1.Claim 1 is still rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. The claim still recites a cross section limitation using volume units rather than units of area.

2.The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3.Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over WO 93/25608 in view of Gluck et al. (5,880,166) as set forth in the previous Office action.

4.Applicant's arguments filed December 2, 2003 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant states that the invention as a whole which is referred to in Section 103(a) is not limited to the subject matter which is literally recited in the claim(s) in question and that the invention as a whole also includes properties of the claimed subject matter which are inherent in the specific combination of requirements defined by the claim(s). This is not persuasive because what is being evaluated is whether the claim is readable on the prior art relied upon and it is still the examiner's position that the claim is readable on that prior art.

Applicant's arguments regarding bimodal versus monomodal foams, the use of graphite versus carbon black and relative thermal conductivities produced are also noted by the examiner. These arguments are not persuasive at least for the reason that they are not commensurate in scope with the claim.

5.THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

6.Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Allan Kuhns whose telephone number is (571) 272-1202. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday to Thursday from 7:00 to 5:30.
